Dear Youth Substance Use Prevention Supporter,

We're reaching out to partners like you that share a commitment to the well-being of young people, preventing youth substance use, and to community health. TxSDY's Statewide Summit Series: Advancing Prevention Through Action brings together leaders from across our state to equip them with the tools and information needed to address the most pressing prevention challenges they face in protecting our kids.

This dynamic five-part virtual series is designed to strengthen the collective impact of those that desire to help youth thrive—offering expert-led sessions, practical evidence-based strategies, and real-world insights focused on turning knowledge into action.

We understand that "Just Say No" is not an effective prevention strategy. Adults have a role to play. For nearly three decades, TxSDY has been bringing the lastest research and prevention strategies to the table, encouraging people to use best practices to push forward prevention outcomes that protect our kids, and turning research into action. TxSDY has partnered across sectors to build safer, healthier communities that make it easier for kids to make better choices. This Summit is a cornerstone of that work by connecting a statewide network committed to prevention and meaningful change.

Your investment is more than support for an event. It's a visible commitment to protecting youth and advancing solutions that strengthen communities across Texas.

Sponsors play a vital role in making this series possible. Your support helps us:

- Expand access to high-quality, relevant prevention education
- Elevate emerging issues affecting youth and communities
- Connect professionals across sectors to foster collaboration
- Provide actionable tools and strategies that drive measurable impact

By investing in this series, you are directly contributing to protecting kids across our state through stronger, better-informed prevention efforts.

With gratitude,

Nicole Holt, CEO
Seth Miller, Board Chair

About the Summit Series

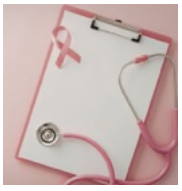

The Statewide Summit Series is a five-session virtual educational series focused on current and emerging prevention topics impacting youth, families, and communities.

Each 90-minute session features expert speakers, practical strategies, and actionable discussions designed to support professionals and community leaders working across prevention, public health, healthcare, education, law enforcement, policy, and advocacy.

Session Topics

- What new alcohol and cannabis policies mean for prevention, public health, and public safety
- How the latest research on the link between alcohol and cancer can inform public health strategies
- Emerging cannabis products, shifting perceptions of harm, and impacts on youth health and prevention
- The rise of alcopops, their appeal to youth, and strategies to reduce youth access and harm
- Practical approaches for enforcing prevention policies that improve community outcomes

Why Sponsor the Summit Series?

Your sponsorship helps:

- Expand access to prevention education across Texas
- Support multidisciplinary collaboration and learning
- Equip communities with practical prevention tools and strategies
- Increase awareness of emerging youth health and safety issues
- Strengthen evidence-based prevention efforts statewide

Sponsors also receive valuable visibility among a statewide audience of professionals and decision-makers committed to improving kids' lives, as well as community health and safety.

Audience

The Summit Series brings together a diverse audience, including:

- Community coalitions
- Public health professionals
- Educators and school administrators
- Law enforcement and public safety partners
- Healthcare providers
- Policymakers, public policy professionals, and advocates
- Legal Professionals
